VOLUME XLIX. NUMBER 13

BARKER seems to be "willin" to reverse himself.

The Hon. Con. Roach, Secretary of State, calls the Globe-Democrat to order and sets forth that paper's misrepresentations through the handy medium of half-truth. Mr. Roach's reply is printed on the first page of the REGISTER. Read it; it is interesting and instructive.

I TAKE this editorial item from the Potosi Journal:

So far the entrance of Italy in the war has not figured much in results. Austria seems to have taken an easy measure of the Dago.

The reader will please bear in mind, as his mental susceptibility is razzled by the above refulgent scintillation, that the editor of the Journal, believing in American neutrality, is himself neutral—very, very neutral.

From Arizona comes a report that no new supply of wine for sacramental purposes will be obtainable in that State until the prohibition law has been fully tested in the courts. If true, the report verifies the predicted dangers lurking in prohibition legislation, regardless of judicial findings. No law should carry even an implied interruption of religious worship.—St. Louis Church Progress.

O, I don't know! The good people who take supervision over our personal habits and interdict them in their righteous judgment may well go further and regulate and forbid anything and everything that does not meet their star-mountain approval. Infinity is theirs in the reformation of this old earth, created in a crude age and of course subject to the usual shortcomings of a first attempt.

GEORGE STANFILL is a candidate for Congress from the 13th District and is making no bones about it. And there is no reason why George should not be a candidate. Few men are better acquainted in the district and none better qualified. He is a graduate of the law school of Cumberland University, Tennessee, and has practiced his profession in that state and Missouri. Besides being a L. L. B. he is a Ph. D. from the hard knocks of life and has punched his way through places on the campus politics of the 13th Congressional District through his newspaper work. He has owned and edited a Republican newspaper in Iron county which is the same as bearding the lion in his den. He was born a Republican in the Southland and knows what it is to look a political enemy in the eye and laugh him into voting for him. Stanfill will not standstill when he starts.—Bonnie Terre Register.

Now what do you think of that?

Think big city papers frequently indulge in sarcastic pleasantries setting forth the shortcomings of rural journalism—its lack of knowledge in public matters, etc. Therefore, it is with reciprocating glee that I copy the following editorial from the Globe-Democrat:

We are not surprised to hear that State Treasurer Deal will not be a candidate for re-election. His public exposure of the extravagances of other State officials somehow failed to endear him to Democrat party leaders.

To which the Post-Dispatch unfeeling rejoins.

Neither are we surprised to hear that State Treasurer Deal will not be a candidate for re-election, but we are astonished by the Globe-Democrat's suggestion of the reason for his retirement, in view of the constitutional provision declaring the Governor and Treasurer "ineligible for re-election as their own successors."

JACKSON Cash-Book: "The Republican paper Clin the ape is congratulating itself because it thinks it has found one honest Democrat, the editor of a Democratic paper. This editor criticizes a little the Attorney-General's opinion rendered in regard to State revenue derived from certain sources of taxation. The Attorney-General says the revenue from oil inspection, etc., cannot be drawn from in support of the public schools. The Republican press of the State, always without any real issue in Missouri, depends upon its ability to misrepresent and mislead the voters in regard to matters of minor importance. The Cape paper, parroting other abler Republican sheets, is trying to make capital for its party out of this opinion by the Attorney-General in regard to certain revenue. It would have the public think that the Democratic party is trying to rob the schools of some of the money they are entitled to. Attorney-General Barker simply gave it as his opinion that certain state revenue derived from a special kind of taxation can not properly be classified with the general fund from which school moneys are distributed to the county schools. Auditor Gordon, as it is his duty to do, is withholding this money pending a decision by the Supreme Court on the Attorney-General's construction of the law. That is all there is to this Republican bugaboo about the Democratic officials at Jefferson City trying to cheat the schools out of money."

Bellevue News.

John Ricketts returned Saturday to his home in Mt. Sterling, Ky. Mrs. J. L. Morris, of St. Louis, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. H. Russell. G. V. Boring, teacher of the Sloan School, Washington county, spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Frank Lashley left last Wednesday to transact business in Nebraska. Mrs. Chas. Edmonds and children, of Bismarck were guests at the Paulus Hotel the first of the week.

Mrs. B. W. Bynum returned last Tuesday from a two weeks' visit in Mississippi county. She reports everything prosperous down there—the best yield of corn in years. Some fields promise to make 75 bushels per acre. The recent storm did not do great damage in that section.

Mrs. C. E. Paulus left Sunday for her home in Oklahoma City. She was accompanied as far as St. Louis by Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Lasater and Miss Clara Bollinger.

H. L. Bell and family returned Tuesday from a month's visit in Southwest Missouri. He made the trip out there and back as far as St. Louis in his new Ford, but was compelled to leave his car in St. Louis on account of the condition of the roads. Our school opened on last Monday week with a full attendance, under the experienced tutorage of Miss Mizie Russell. We are expecting a successful term.

We are in receipt of a card dated August 8, from our friend, Miss Katie Russell, who sailed from New York on July 26th as a Missionary to Africa. She stated she had a very pleasant voyage across the Atlantic and was enjoying a five day lay-over in Lisbon, Portugal. She expected to embark on the following Wednesday for Luebo Congo, Africa, which voyage will probably take two months.

Our community is very much grieved over the two recent deaths. That on last Friday week, of Mrs. Arthur Bond, nee Edna McClurg, who passed away after a painful illness of a few days, leaving an infant only 3 days old, a devoted young husband, parents, brothers and sisters, and many friends who miss her sadly. Funeral services on the following Sunday at Cedar Grove church, by R. W. Lile of Caledonia. Interred in Presbyterian Cemetery. Also the death of "Uncle" Jack Palmer, which occurred last Thursday at his home in our midst.

The above mentioned was the oldest native born in Iron county, being past 80; practically all of his long and useful life was spent in Bellevue Valley. Our little town will feel the loss of this valued citizen. The funeral services were observed at the home on Sunday, a large crowd being present, most of which reverently followed his remains to Eldon Cemetery, its last resting place. Rev. M. M. Blessie conducted both funeral and burial devotions. ALPHA.

Flood of Water.

(Centerville Outlook.)

An almost steady down-pour of rain for the past 72 hours raised the water in Black River and adjacent streams to an almost unprecedented height last night, and this (Friday) morning, doing untold damage to farms and growing crops and resulting in the drowning of much live stock throughout the county.

At Centerville the water coming down out of the Barnesville and Brooks hollows practically flooded the town and about 50 people took refuge in the Court House, about 12 o'clock at night, not knowing at what time their homes might be undermined by the madly rushing waters. Logs, rails and drifts floated down main street and the water in the court house yard was knee deep in many places. The streets are nearly ruined, great ditches and holes being washed out in many places that it will require hundreds of loads of rock and dirt to fill.

Meager reports from the Iron Mountain and Missouri Southern Railroads say that the tracks have been so badly damaged and washed away that it will require several days to get the roads in shape before they can again operate trains.

The public roads throughout the county are almost totally ruined, and it will take several days to get them in condition for even temporary passage for wagons.

It is reported that Ellington was badly overflooded, but we have been unable to learn the extent of the damage done.

Taking everything into consideration we are certain, from the information already at hand, that it is the most destructive flood that has ever visited this section of the State.

From Gentry Ferguson.

I have just returned from Colorado. Was in Denver and Pueblo; had a good time, saw some fine country and good cities. It is a fine climate in summer, and they have fine wheat and oats. Fine country for small grain but no good for corn.
